

Wizard Chess turnout is a success

Proceeds from fundraiser benefit Audubon Society

By Avi Slifer
Reporter

The wizarding chess community has stricken Prairie High School. Students at Prairie played a giant game of chess made out of giant poster board and the pieces were the students. To better help visualize the game, the players controlling the students looked at a normal size chessboard to help decide their next move.

The LARP (Live Action Role Playing) Harry Potter style chess games were an idea of Madeline Camp and Katie Pagel.

The total funds raised, $267, went towards a fundraiser for Audubon Society, a society of birdwatchers.

On March 26 from 12:30-5:00 a tournament style of rounds was played with 8 games being totaled.

The Championship game was won by Victor Schlonga who defeated Connor Jankowski.

Depending on next years NHS members, Mrs. Clafflin hopes to make it a bigger event with more advertising, tournament games, and other activities.

Prairie students play as live chess pieces on a large chess board made out of paper

Courtesy of NHS